

Access from Tokyo Station

Take the Marunouchi Subway Line from Tokyo Station to Korakuen Station, from which the hall is a 10-minute walk.
About 35 minutes

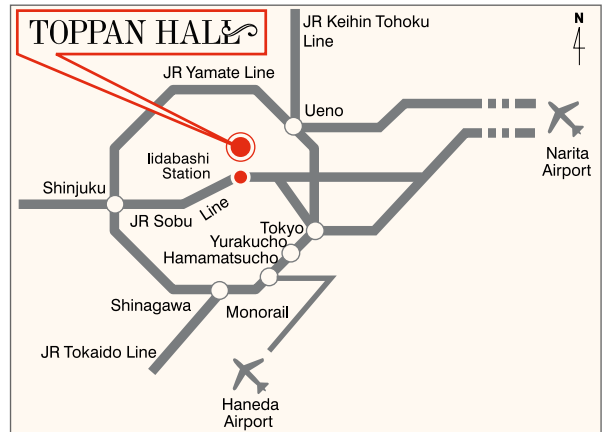

Take the JR Chuo Line to Ochanomizu Station and transfer to the JR Sobu Line. Get off at Iidabashi Station, from which the hall is a 13-minute walk.
About 35 minutes

Access from Haneda Airport

Take the Tokyo Monorail from Haneda Airport to JR Hamamatsucho Station. Transfer to the JR Keihin Tohoku Line and proceed to Akihabara Station. Transfer to JR Sobu Line and get off at Iidabashi Station, from which the hall is a 13-minute walk.
About 65 minutes

Access from Narita Airport

Take the Narita Express from the airport to Tokyo Station. Transfer to JR Chuo Line and proceed to Ochanomizu Station. Transfer to JR Sobu Line and get off at Iidabashi Station, from which the hall is a 13-minute walk.
About 90 minutes

For visitors coming by train or subway

JR Iidabashi Station: about a 13-minute walk
JR Sobu Line (East exit); Yurakucho, Tozai, Namboku, Oedo Subway Lines (Exit B1)

Edogawabashi Station: about an 8-minute walk
Yurakucho Subway Line (Exit #4)

Korakuen Station: about a 10-minute walk
Marunouchi, Namboku Subway Lines (Exit #1)

For visitors coming by bus

City Bus (上69)
Ueno Koen Kasuga Eki-mae Otakibashi Shako Omagari or Higashi Gokencho, from which hall is about a 2-minute walk

City Bus (飯64)
Kudanshita Iidabashi Eki-mae Otakibashi Shako Omagari or Higashi Gokencho, from which hall is about a 3-minute walk

For visitors coming by car

When headed towards central Tokyo on the Metropolitan #5 Expressway:
Get off at Iidabashi off-ramp and proceed towards Iidabashi Station.
Take a right turn at the Iidabashi Station intersection onto Mejiro-dori Street.
Proceeding towards Ikebukuro, take a right turn at Nakanohashi intersection, which is just after the Omagari intersection.

When headed out of central Tokyo on the Metropolitan #5 Expressway:
Get off at the Nishi Kanda off-ramp and proceed onto Mejiro-dori Street.
Proceeding towards Ikebukuro, take a right turn at Nakanohashi intersection, which is just after the Omagari intersection.

Please use the underground parking area at the hall.

